Cronos Consultants Group partners with Misys to improve integration and reduce the cost of implementation

9 March 2015 – Misys, the leading financial software company, has signed an agreement with Cronos Consultants Group to become a member of the Misys InFusion Partner Programme. Cronos and Misys have been collaborating for many years with Cronos providing consulting, system integration, infrastructure and business process management services alongside Misys solutions exclusively for the financial services industry.

Cronos has developed a number of implementation tools that greatly assist the smooth integration of Misys solutions into the client's existing infrastructure. The two companies work closely together to design and deliver bespoke requirements for installations at buy-side and sell-side clients. Together they have helped clients simplify investment operations to use as few systems as possible by streamlining processes and reducing total cost of ownership.

Steve Lazouras, Cronos Managing Partner, commented: "Like Misys, we understand that implementing a new technology or software solution does not always mean replacing a client's entire suite of products or applications, especially when the existing business is still reliant upon it. Cronos is experienced in the process of integrating legacy systems with new solutions."

Misys Vice President Partners & Ecosystem, Brian Gibson, states: "Cronos specialists have many years of experience in capital markets and investment management and a very deep knowledge of the integration technologies underpinning our products in these markets. We are delighted that Cronos have joined the Misys InFusion Partner programme to help us drive our expanding business by developing our partner ecosystem in the UK and Ireland."
