LONDON, 1 April 2015 – At the annual FStech Awards, held on 26 March 2015, Misys, the leading financial software company, picked up three awards across risk management, trading systems and online technology. The FStech Awards recognise excellence and innovation in the field of information technology within the UK and EMEA financial services sector.

Misys FusionRisk was voted as winner in the ‘Risk Management Software of the Year’ category. Winning this award previously in 2013, FusionRisk is Misys’ strategic risk management solution that allows banks to build their risk intelligence across the trading and banking books.
